Asia Week San Francisco Bay Area is scheduled to be held from September 30 to October 8, 2016. Bringing together leading Asian art dealers, auction houses, museums, cultural institutions, and academic bodies, it promises to be a week of celebrating Asian art and culture. It aims to establish a platform to showcase and promote Asian art and foster cultural diversity.

With a slew of activities, the focus will be on presenting quality programs including exhibitions, auctions, lectures, seminars, performances, and a featured symposium. The second edition of Asia Week SFBA will have 31 participants and partners, including 11 new participants.

Notable names participating are Asian Art Museum in San Francisco, Berkeley Art Museum and Pacific Film Archive, the Center for East Asian Studies at Stanford in Palo Alto, among many others. The participants include galleries, museums, auction houses, and performance companies.
